How we size our products:

A Chest size

Run the tape measure directly under the armpits, horizontally across the widest part of the chest, and read the chest size.

B Waist size

Run the tape measure around your middle like a belt (as rule, for women the narrowest part, for men just below the bellybutton) and read the waist size.

C Inside leg

Measure from the crotch to the floor, down the inside of the leg.

INCH SIZES

To convert measurements in cm to inches, multiply by 2.54, then refer to the table above.

Example for measurement 33 inch:
33 inch x 2,54 = 83,82 cm

HELMETS (measured in cm)

This is how you measure the right size:

Measure your head size at the widest point, so over the ears. In the table below you can see which helmet size is likely to fit. Please note; this is an indication, the helmet sizes differ per brand. A helmet must fit tightly on the head, but must not press painfully. The inner lining of a helmet will lock in after a short wear time, making a helmet more spacious.

| Head size | Helmet size | Helmet size children |

| 48        | -           | YXS                  |

GLOVES (measured in cm)

How do I determine which size gloves suit me?

A guideline is to measure the size of your hands between your thumb and under your fingers. Do this with the hand that you prefer to use, so right-handed people measure their right hand and vice versa. In the table below you can see which size is likely to fit. If in doubt, take a size bigger.

| Size          | XS    | S     | M     | L     | XL    | XXL   | 3XL   |
|---------------|-------|-------|-------|-------|-------|-------|-------|
